PERSONAL BRAND MEDIA ASSET

Biography & Event Introduction Pack

Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi

Physician | Health Innovator | Institution Builder

Advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership.

Approved copy for events, media, websites, proposals and partnerships

VA COPY SELECTION GUIDE

Choose the right version in seconds

The wording in this pack is approved for public use. Select the version that matches the space and purpose, then copy it without combining paragraphs from different versions.

USE THIS VERSION	WHEN YOU NEED IT
Short biography	Event flyers, social-media promotions, conference programmes and applications with limited space.
Medium biography	Speaker pages, partnership proposals, media requests and professional profiles.
Long biography	Full media kits, websites, award nominations and formal institutional profiles.
Compact host introduction	Introductions of approximately 30 seconds.
Standard host introduction	Formal events, panels, webinars, conferences and media appearances.

Identity lock

Public name: Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi

Primary headline: Physician | Health Innovator | Institution Builder

Mission statement: Advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership.

Founder architecture: EOhealth, MentorMatrix Network and Publish to Greatness. ViHLERT is presented as a signature EOhealth programme.

Social identity: @_emmaco4real_

APPROVED BIOGRAPHY COPY

Short & medium biographies

SHORT BIOGRAPHY

Use for event graphics, social promotions and brief applications.

Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi is a physician, health innovator and institution builder advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership. He is the Founder of EOhealth, MentorMatrix Network and Publish to Greatness. His work focuses on making health knowledge accessible, developing emerging professionals, strengthening research capacity and building practical solutions for African healthcare.

MEDIUM BIOGRAPHY

Use for speaker pages, proposals, professional profiles and media requests.

Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi is a physician, health innovator and institution builder committed to advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership. He is the Founder of EOhealth, a health-innovation and education platform making reliable health information accessible, developing emerging healthcare professionals and building practical responses to healthcare challenges. Through the Virtual Health Literacy and Emergency Response Training, he has contributed to training more than 400 participants from over 30 medical schools. He also founded MentorMatrix Network, a mentorship and capacity-building platform helping young people gain practical guidance, recognise opportunities and build careers of impact. He is the Founder of Publish to Greatness, a multidisciplinary research mentorship community comprising five active groups and 54 members. His work and interests span artificial intelligence in medicine, digital health, medical education, antimicrobial resistance, research-capacity development and health-systems strengthening.

APPROVED BIOGRAPHY COPY

Long biography

For websites, media kits, award nominations and formal profiles

Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi is a physician, health innovator and institution builder committed to advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership.

He is the Founder of EOhealth, a health-innovation and education platform focused on making reliable health information accessible, developing emerging healthcare professionals and building practical solutions to healthcare challenges. What began as a health-education initiative has evolved into a growing platform spanning public health communication, professional development, research, digital health and healthcare innovation.

Through the Virtual Health Literacy and Emergency Response Training, Dr. Owolabi has helped equip more than 400 participants from over 30 medical schools with knowledge and skills in health literacy, advocacy, communication and emergency response. The initiative demonstrates his commitment to translating recognised gaps in healthcare education into structured, scalable programmes.

Dr. Owolabi also founded MentorMatrix Network, a mentorship and capacity-building platform designed to help young people and emerging professionals gain practical guidance, identify meaningful opportunities and develop careers of impact beyond formal qualifications.

He is the Founder of Publish to Greatness, a multidisciplinary research mentorship community supporting students and early-career researchers to develop practical research skills, collaborate effectively and contribute to meaningful scientific work. The community currently comprises five active groups and 54 members, with member work published, presented at conferences across Africa and recognised through awards.

His research and professional interests include artificial intelligence in medicine, digital health, health-systems strengthening, medical education, antimicrobial resistance, surgical systems and orthopaedics. A former President of the Babcock University Association of Medical Students, he has led initiatives across research, mentorship, advocacy, health education and youth development.

His long-term mission is to develop people, strengthen institutions and build innovative solutions for better healthcare across Africa.

APPROVED EVENT COPY

Host introductions

COMPACT INTRODUCTION

Use when the host has approximately 30 seconds.

Our speaker is Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi, a physician, health innovator and institution builder advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership. He is the Founder of EOhealth, MentorMatrix Network and Publish to Greatness, and his work spans health education, mentorship, research and healthcare innovation. Please welcome Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi.

STANDARD INTRODUCTION

Use for conferences, webinars, formal panels, podcasts and institutional events.

Our speaker is Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi, a physician, health innovator and institution builder advancing healthcare in Africa through technology, research, education and leadership. He is the Founder of EOhealth, a platform making reliable health information accessible, developing emerging healthcare professionals and building practical healthcare solutions. Through initiatives including the Virtual Health Literacy and Emergency Response Training, his work has reached more than 400 participants across over 30 medical schools. He also founded MentorMatrix Network, a mentorship and capacity-building platform helping young people build careers of impact, and Publish to Greatness, a multidisciplinary research mentorship community supporting emerging researchers. His work sits at the intersection of healthcare innovation, education, research and leadership. Please welcome Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi.

Pronunciation and presentation note

Present the public name exactly as "Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi." Do not replace the primary identity with former student-leadership titles. Those roles may appear as supporting evidence when relevant.

FINAL VA HAND-OFF

Copy, confirm and send

This pack is designed so the selected copy can be sent directly to organisers, journalists, partners and programme teams. Before sending, confirm only the event-specific details; do not rewrite the approved identity or founder architecture.

1. Select

Choose the short, medium or long biography according to the space available. Choose the compact or standard introduction according to the host's allotted time.

2. Confirm

Verify that the statistics remain current: more than 400 people trained, over 30 medical schools represented, and five Publish to Greatness groups comprising 54 members.

3. Send

Provide the selected biography, the appropriate host introduction, the approved profile photograph and the current booking contact.

4. Preserve

Keep the exact public name, headline, social handle and founder architecture. Do not remove MentorMatrix Network or convert ViHLERT into a separate founder role.

Current contact block

Dr. Emmanuel A. Owolabi

Physician | Health Innovator | Institution Builder

abiodunowolabi2000@gmail.com

@_emmaco4real_

Nigeria | Available for virtual and approved international engagements